COLORADO BEATS

Boulder Players Were Too Much for the Salt Lake Boys at Football.

DENVER, Oct. 29.—In a game marked by the frequent fumbling by both teams, the University of Colorado defeated the University of Utah here this afternoon at Union Park by a score of 11 to 0. score of 11 to 0.

Right Halfback Rich of Colorado made goals from the field at 40 and 45 yards. Rich's kicking was about the only redeeming feature of the game, which was evenly contested in the first and fourth periods, although the Coloradoans got three points in the ppening session.

opening session.

In the second period the Boulder players showed at their best, taking the ball straight down the field from the center for a touchdown, McFadden hugging the ball when it was the line. Picke purpout Can prove the above adage, if you will only give her an opportunity to do so, in your own life reading. Years of study and experience have made over the line. Rich's punt out was missed following this touchdown, spoiling a chance for a goal. In this period Utah monopolized most of the study and experience have made over the line.

Colorado resumed this weakness in the third period, but managed to add the third period to the third pe three more points because Rich was able to kick the leather over the bar from a distance of 45 yards.

from a distance of 45 yards.

When the third period ended Utah had the ball on Colorado's 25-yard line, and a score for the visitors was freely predicted, but did not materialize, although they did get the ball to Colorado's two-yard line, where the Boulderites braced and held for downs. In this period the Colorado team worked a couple of really clever forward passes, each for a gain of 20 yards.

The weather was fine for the spectators, but a little warm for the players, and a big crowd was out.

The demonstration made by the Og-den high school students last Friday evening was no comparison to that which took place last evening, when the students, three hundred strong, marched up town upon their return from the victorious battle on Cum-mings' field at Salt Lake, where the local football team practically cinched the Utah interscholastic championship by defeating the Zion team 10

The entire degelation did not return on the special train arriving in this city at 8:30 o'clock, the members of the team and many others remain-ing in Salt Lake to attend a dance given by the senior class of the Salt Lake high school. And it was probably just as well that all did not arrive in Ogden at the same time, for it would be difficult to prophesy the out-come of such an overflow of enthusi-

As it was, the number who returned home on the early train had no diffi-culty attracting the attention of everybody in the business district. At the corner of Twenty-fifth and Washington the students, and there was a goodly number of girls in the bunch, gathered into the official formation of rooters' association and rendered a few choice Ogden yells, not neglecting to omit the numerical result of the game.

It would have been a most pleasng noise had the entire delegation of Ogden students and others returned to this city in a body. It is claimed that over three hundred students and supporters of the local team went to Salt Lake on the special train over the Denver & Rio Grande yesterday to attend the game.

A curious feature of the excursion was that both the Rio Grande and the Bamberger line claimed the title of being the "official" line. The excursion business on an occasion of this kind was a big, ripe, juicy plum to pick, and naturally both roads were moved to the office of a physician, where it was found that the knife red hot after the business. Big win-dow cards were printed and distrib-uted over the city by each road and reading notices were also printed in the papers, announcing the excursions tery was severed, but the knife did on both roads.

Three persons joy riding in an auto had a narrow escape from death or fatal injury last night, when a touring car, which is said to be owned by a man named Fenton, turned turtle while coming down the Twenty-third street hill, between Adams and Washington avenues

Washington avenues.

It was impossible to learn the names of the occupants of the car, which was a five-passenger Maxwell, bearing license No. 1308. One of the passengers sustained a sprained arm, while another had four ribs fractured. It is said that the owner was driving the car at the time of the accident.

The machine was coming down the hill at a high rate of speed, when the driver attempted to turn into the allev between Adams and Washington. The sharp turn, together with a slight elevation in the street, caused the big car to turn turtle. Fortunately it did not turn completely over, and the occupants were not pinioned under the machine

Owing to the fact that the rear left wheel was completely demolished the car could not be moved last night. In addition to the wheel the glass wind shield and hood were badly damaged.

At West Weber there was music by glee club and the speakers were as Jacob Evans of Utah counfollows: Jacob Evans of Utah county, J. H. DeVine, Willam H. Reeder, Jr., Charles A. Ziemer, William Allison and E. E. Harrison. Both meetings were enthusiastic and largely at-Perchance, the busy rounds of every day life and the constant change that time brings about, the memory of Cora King Swain, her charming per-sonality and clever acting that throngs sonality and elever acting that throngs of Ogden's theater-goers used to ap-plaud to the echo may have more or less, been forgotten in the fleeting cycle of events. However, Cora King Swain's friends—and they included the greater portion of the city's popu-lation—may rest assured that their once favorite actress, during her ex-tended absence, was by no means idle. She has been assiduously working she has been assiduously working— striving ever upward toward artistic perfection and the summit of her am-bitious goal. She is now reaping a rich reward in turn for her industry and natural talents. Critical observation has ever been encouraging, if not enthusiastic, and now there is no apparent obstacle in her path leading to fame and fortune.

Theater-goers will tonight have

Are Going to Put a Stop to the Halloween Pranks to Destroy Property.

The advance celebration of Halloween by the small boy with an ingrowing desire to destroy property is already causing the police considerable trouble and annoyance.

Chief Browning has detailed a num-ber of special officers to patrol the residence districts, but in spite of this many complaints have been made that the boys have already entered in to their Halloween raids,
Two bunches of youngsters, ranging from 8 to 14 years of age, were brought in to police headquarters Friday night, but were released after being given a sound lecture. These were the first offenders, however, and any further depredations will be fol-lowed by arrests and penalties as prescribed by the city ordinances.

Chief Browning has instructed all of his officers, both regular and special patrolmen, to arrest all boys who cannot give a good reason for their presence on the streets after dark. Malicious destruction of property in the celebration of Halloween will not be tolerated in Ogden this year, and such acts will mean prosecution the fullest extent of the law.
